Guide on setting up 'Pulsar Favourites Subscription' (PFS).
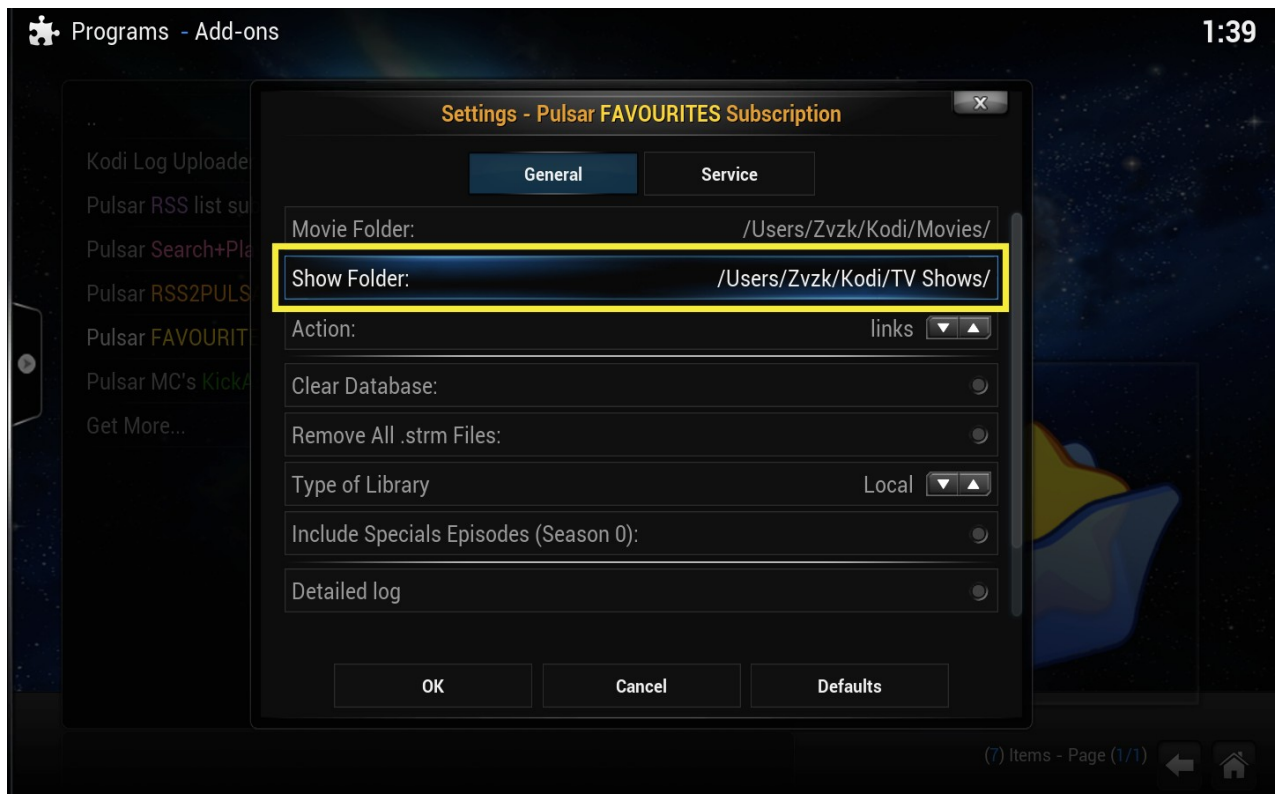

Once you have installed PFS you will be able to find the add-on in 'Programs'.

Go to 'Programs -> Pulsar Favourites Subscription'. Bring up the context menu.
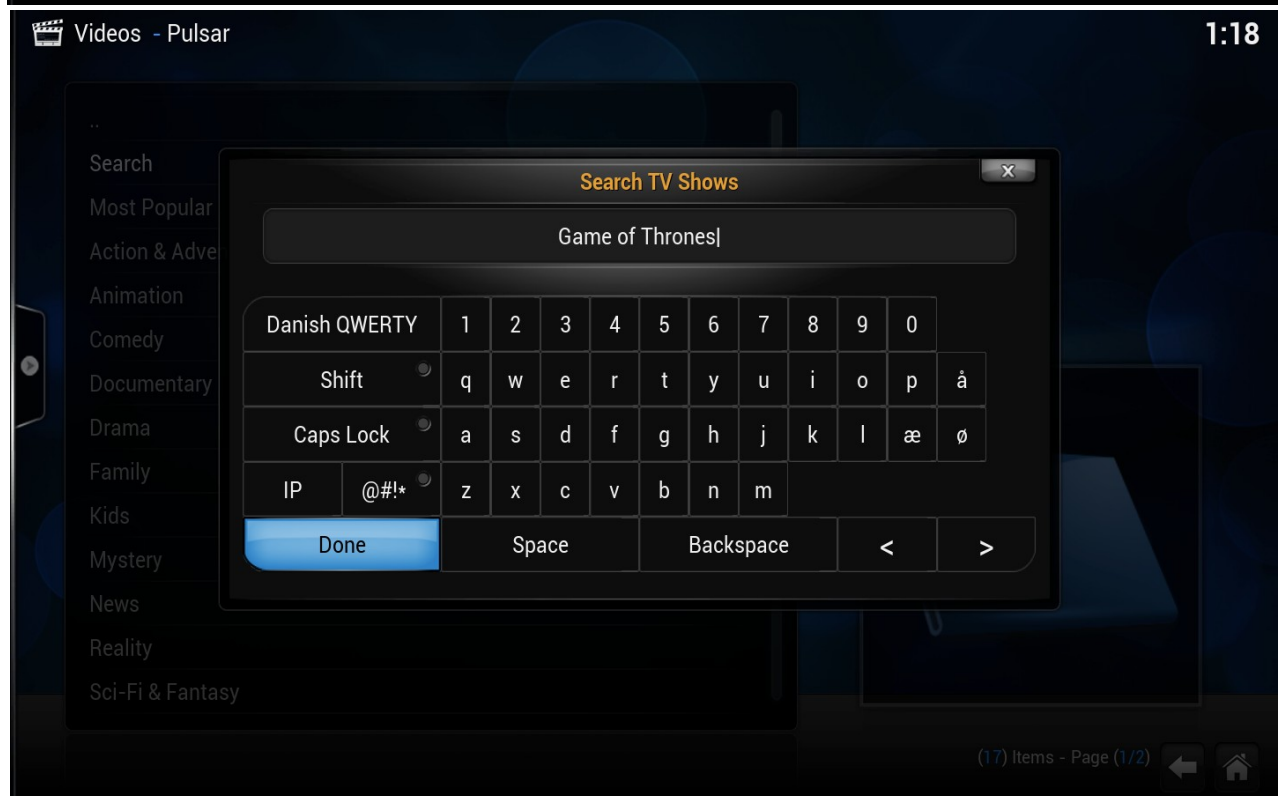

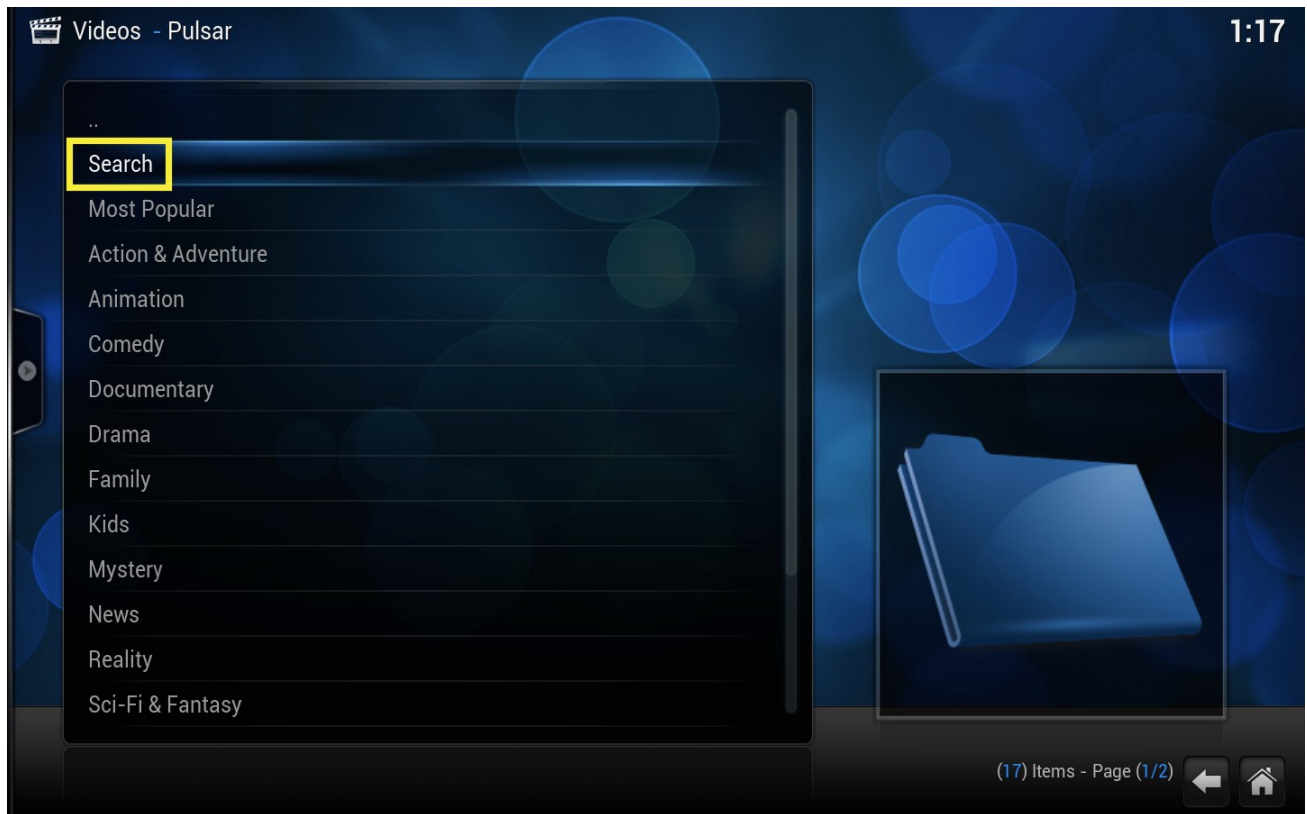

Add the path to where you store TV Shows (it will differ from mine).
Once you open 'Show folder' to choose the path you will likely see 'tvshows' – that's the one you want.
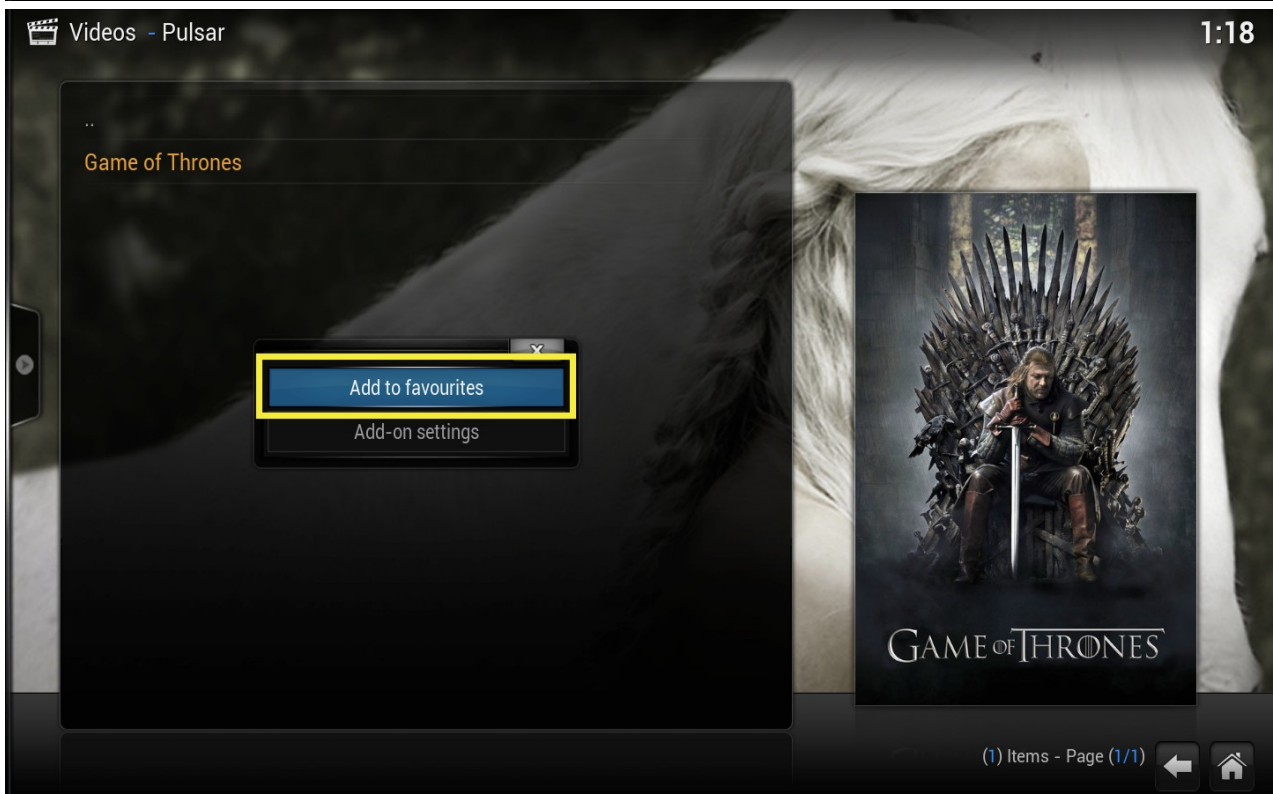

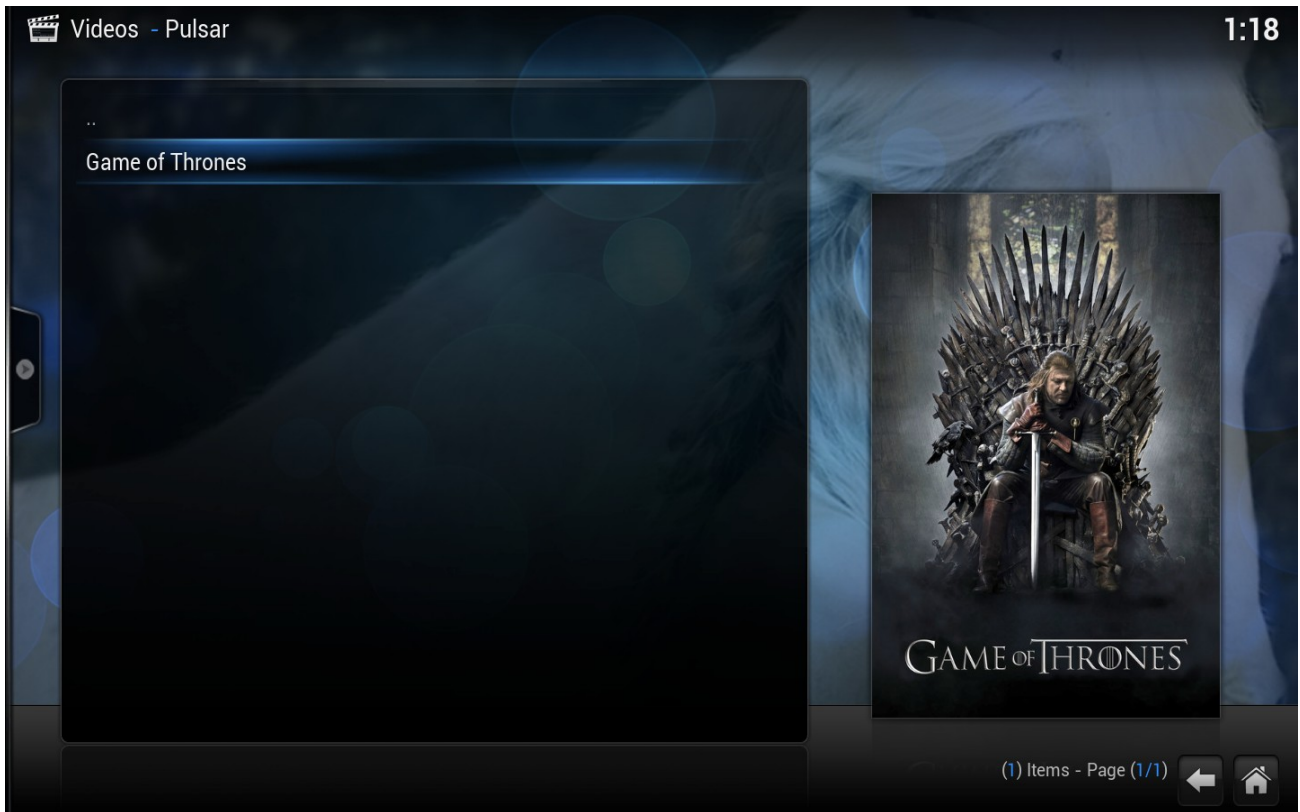

Subscribe to a TV Show (for this example we will subscribe to 'Game of Thrones':
Open Pulsar and choose 'TV Shows'.

Search for 'Game of Thrones'

Once 'Game of Thrones' is found, bring up the context menu. Choose 'Add to favourites'.
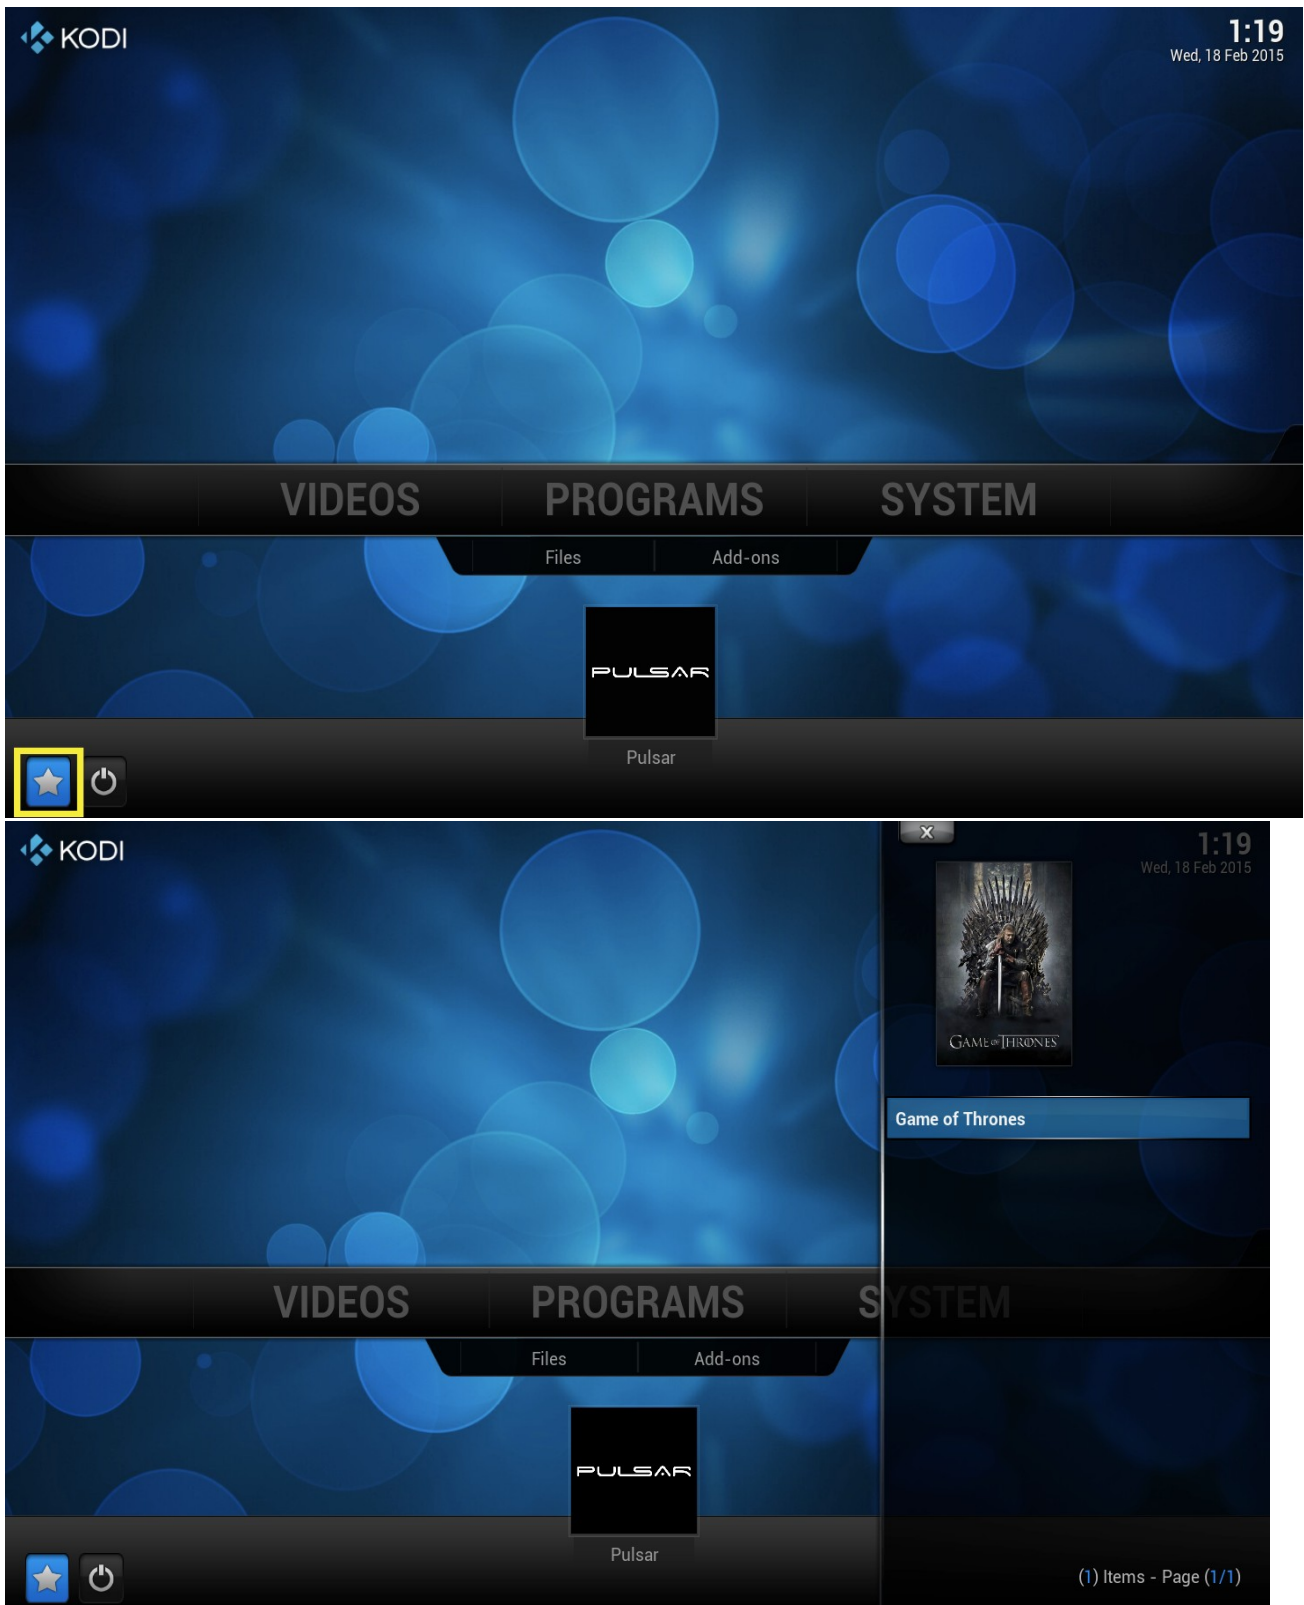

When you go back to 'Programs -> PFS' and start the add-on, it will check and retrieve episodes for the subscribed TV Show.
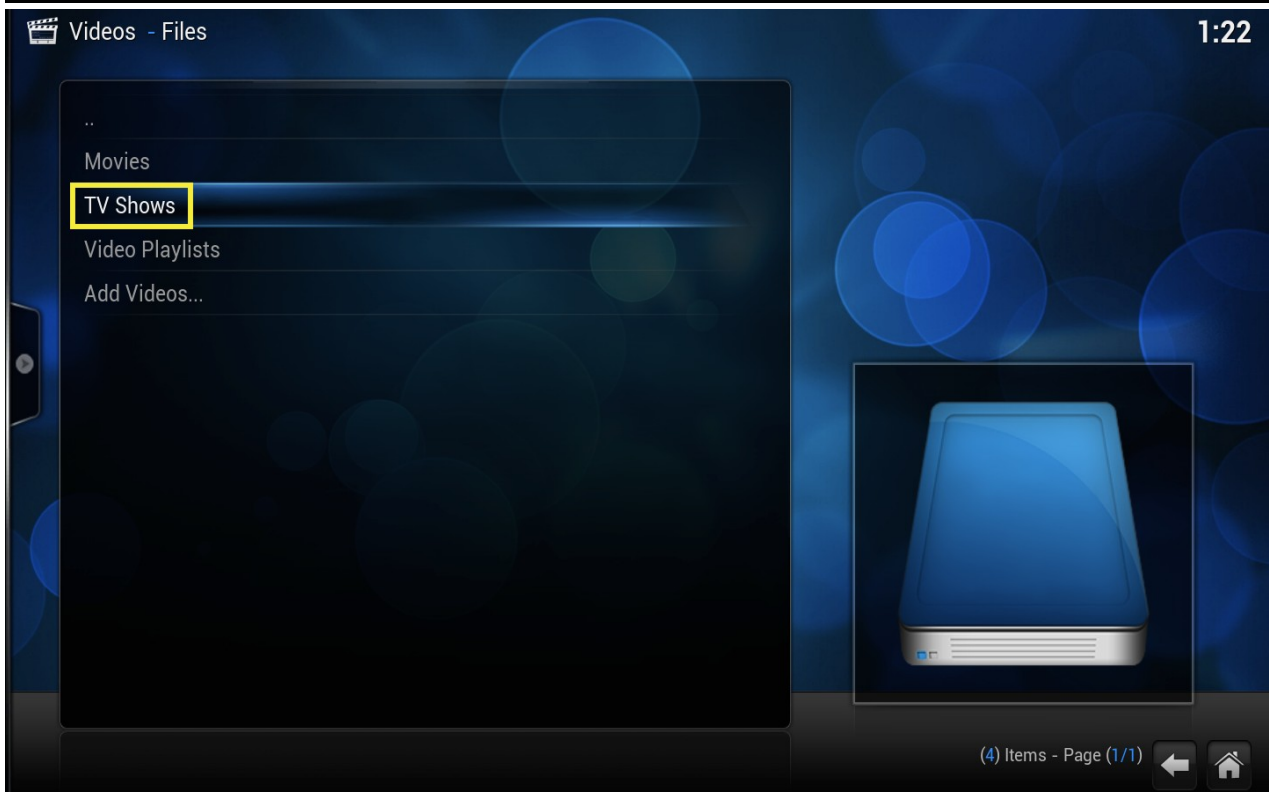

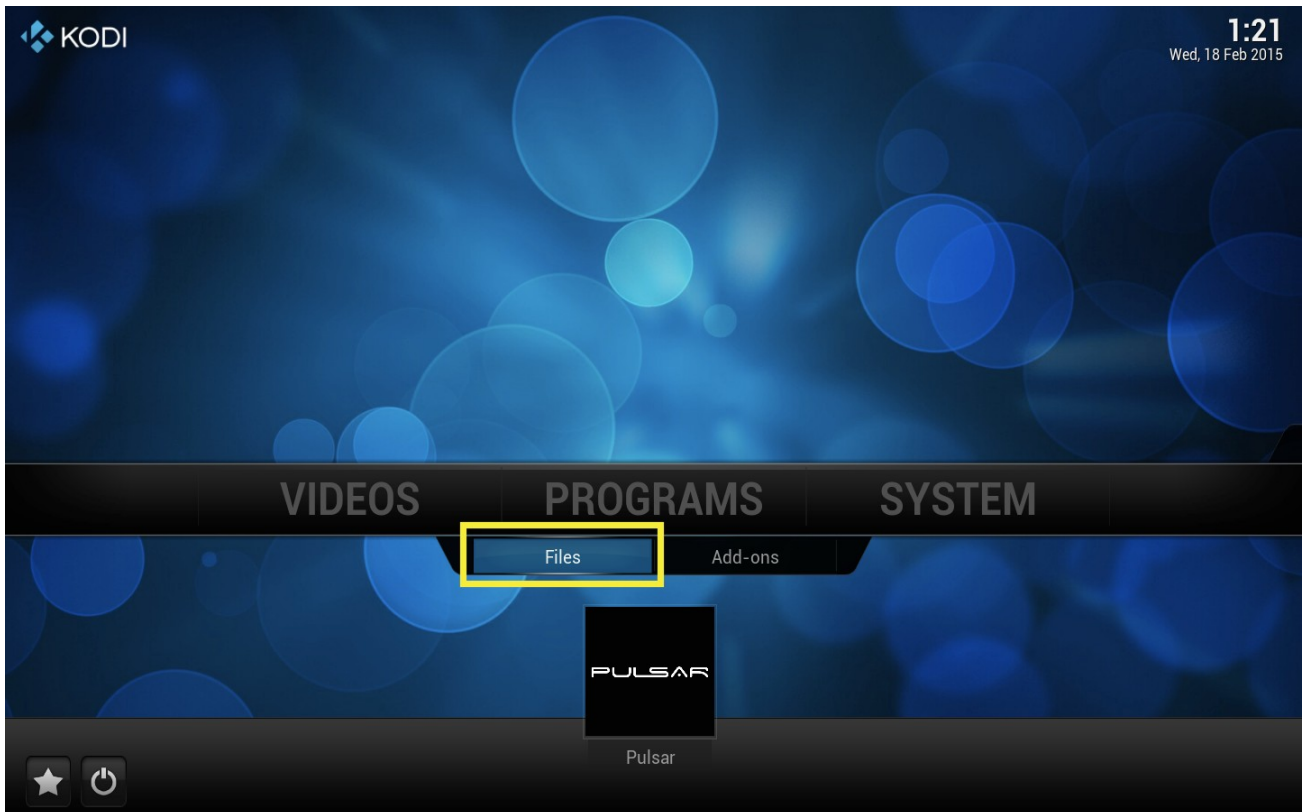

These next couple of steps are not necessary for setting up FPS – so the can be skipped. If you want to skip the unnecessary steps, scroll down a couple of pages "to continue setting up PFS…".

Once the TV Show is added, it can be found under XBMC/Kodi's favourites as well as in 'Videos -> Files -> TV Shows'.

To continue setting up PFS you must be sure that the chosen folder for TV Shows in PFS is set up with a scraper.
In the beginning of this guide we set the folder in PFS – here it was set to (/Users/Zvzk/ Kodi/TV Shows/). Remember that your will be different.
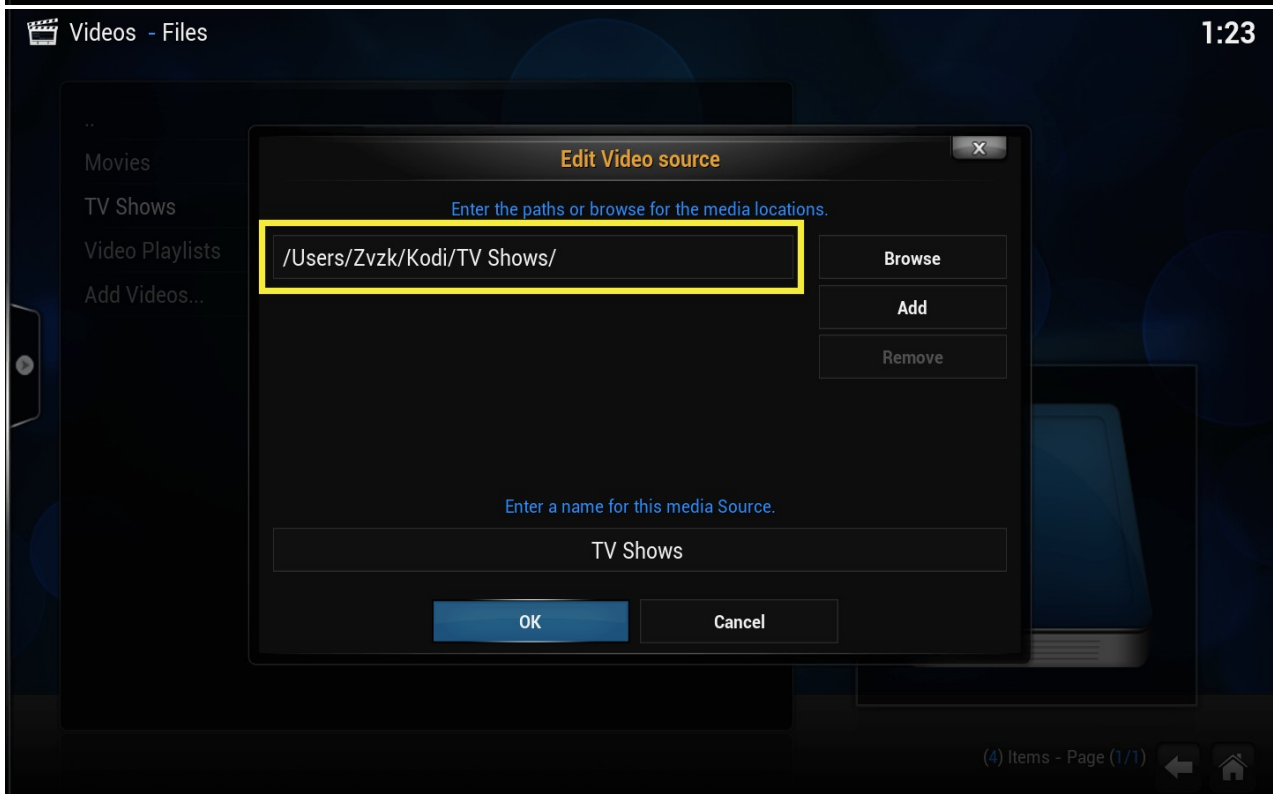

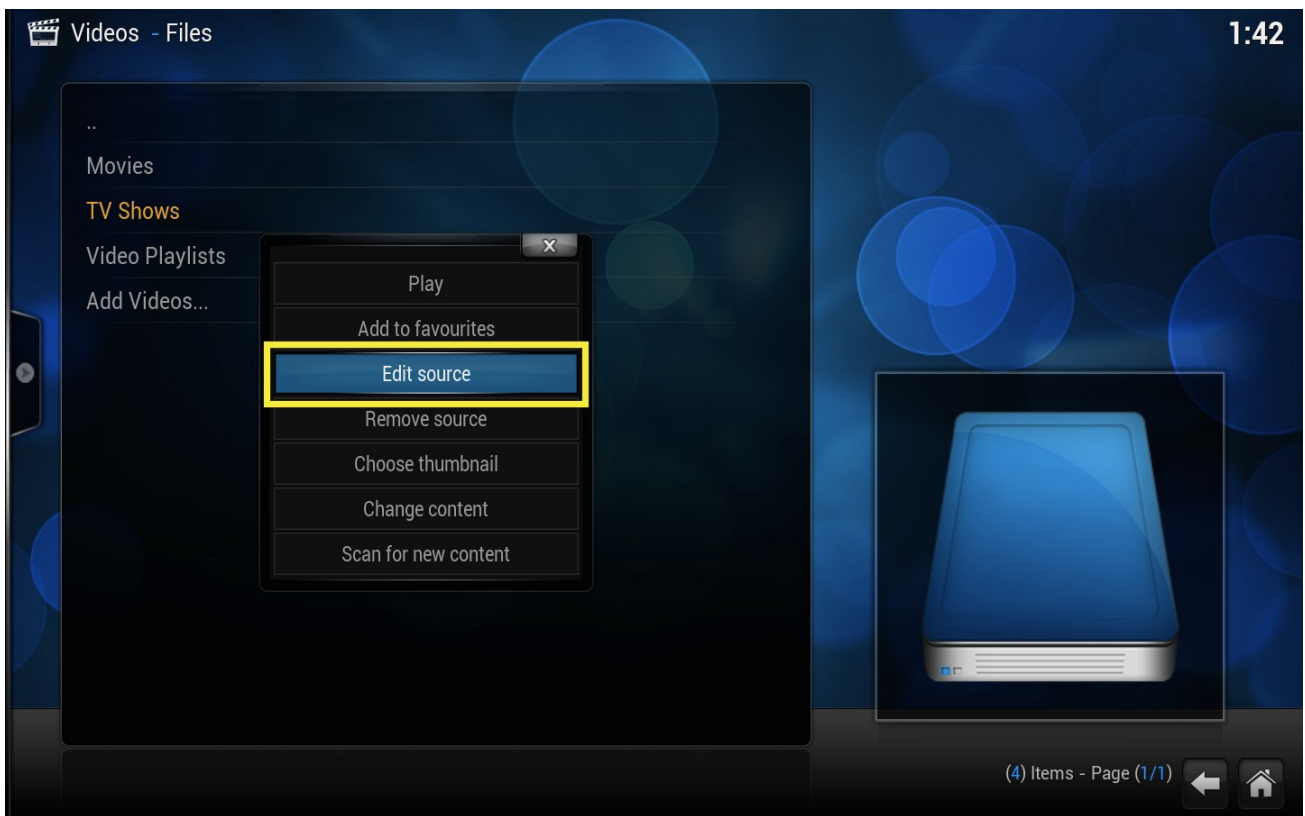

A thorough guide on the proces can be found on Kodi's Wiki: Set content and scan

Here is a brief guide on setting up the scraper:
Go to 'Videos -> Files -> TV Shows'

Bring up the context menu for 'TV Shows' and choose 'Edit source' to choose/ensure the correct path. 'OK' to go to the next step.
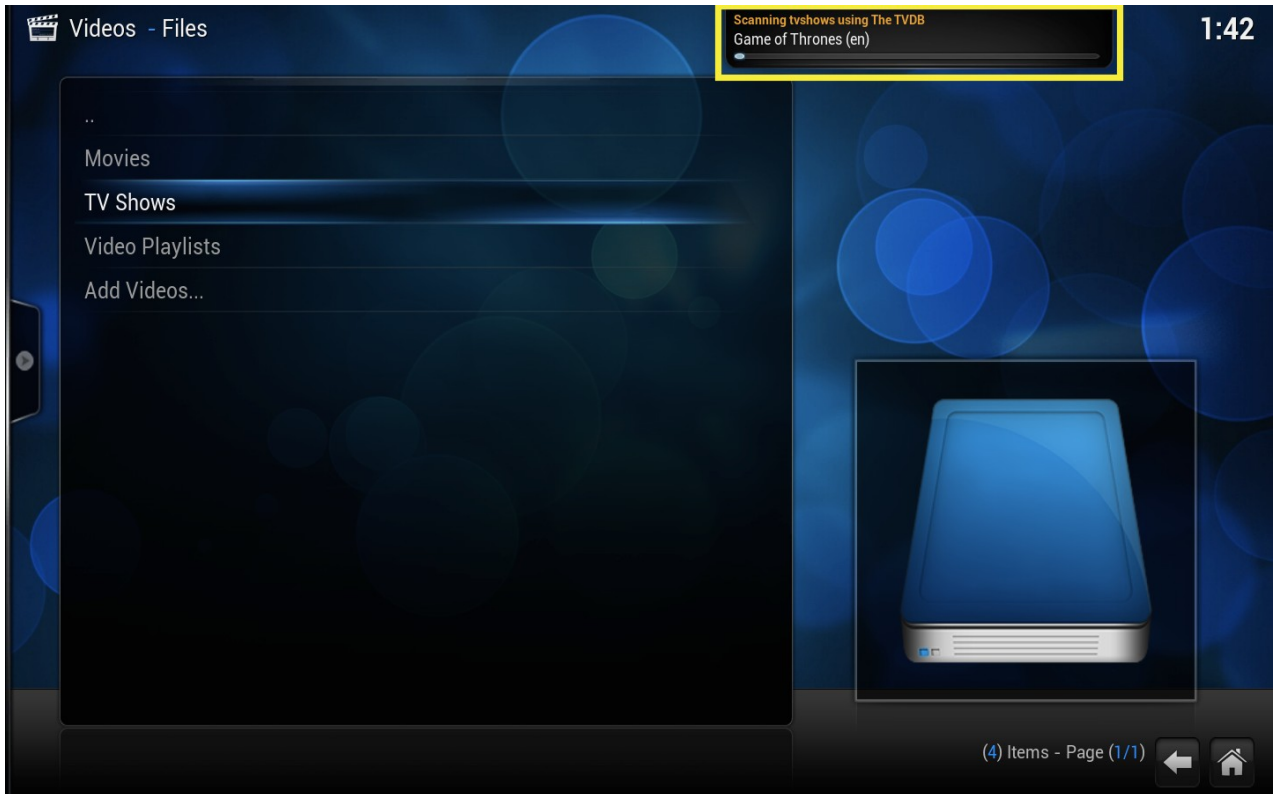

Choose the scraper. For TV Shows we will be choosing TVDB.
'OK' to finish setting the scraper.

Once the scraper is set, the folder ('Video -> Files -> TV Shows') has to be scanned.
Bring up the context menu. Choose 'Scan for new content'.

Once XBMC/Kodi starts scanning for new content you will be notified.

When you go back to the main screen, you will now see a section 'TV Shows' with the newly added TV show(s).

Godspeed!
